Orange City Hall Becomes More User Friendly

Statement by Mayor Eldridge Hawkins, Jr.

“Starting today, it will be easier for Orange citizens and businesses to get the help they need from our municipal government. When people call City Hall, instead of being confronted with an automated phone system. They will be connected to Sandra Barrera our new Public Information Officer. Ms. Barrera is bilingual, especially helpful in a city with a growing Spanish-speaking population.

Ms. Barrera will direct their call to the proper city department or individual. This is important because often people call City Hall with a specific problem, but are not aware of which department can provide help.

In addition, Ms. Barrera will be stationed in a public information kiosk outside of the Mayor’s office. When people come to City Hall, Ms. Barrera will send them to the individual or department that can best help.”

Sandra Barrera has 12 years of management experience in two property management firms, Kamson Corporation of Orange and Eden Management. She served as a point of contact for tenant, legal and maintenance issues.
