

Student art on display

Irene Mayson, art teacher at the Orange Preparatory Academy, presents some of the work her students recently displayed, including, below, an assortment of abstract paintings, during the first of the Orange School District's monthly exhibits of student artwork in the administration building along Lincoln Avenue.

